Vocal Coaching

Do you love to sing? Would you like to try out for a school or community choir but you're nervous about auditioning? Are you trying to make a career out of singing or rapping but your voice doesn't sound like you imagined it would when you're recording?

You can learn everything you need to sing like you're a pro through private lessons. Each student begins with a preliminary assessment to determine his or her experience and goals, and then receives their personalized lesson plan. Since each person is different, learning each week could include any of the following:

- Music Theory (reading and writing musical notation)
- Technique
- Performance Practices
- Artistry
- Sight Reading
- Sight Singing
- Ear Training
- Vocal Health Training
- Music History

Most students chose to learn out of traditional music books but this is not a requirement. Annual recitals and performance opportunities are available for those that wish to show off their new talents.
