Piano Lessons

Do you aspire to play piano like the greats, or just want to enjoy tickling the ivories in the privacy of your own home?

You can learn everything you need to know how to play the piano through one-on-one lessons. Each student begins with a preliminary assessment to determine his or her experience and goals, and then receives their personalized lesson plan. Since each person is different, learning each week could include any of the following:

- Music Theory (reading and writing musical notation)
- Technique
- Performance Practices
- Artistry
- Sight Reading
- Ear Training (listening & playing by ear)
- Music History

Most students chose to learn out of traditional music books but this is not a requirement. Annual recitals and performance opportunities are available for those that wish to show off their new talents.
